DNB (PM&R) Admission - Jan. 2010

Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation (PM&R), is the branch of medicine emphasizing the prevention, diagnosis and treatment & rehabilitation of disorders –particularly those of the musculoskeletal, neurological, cardiovascular, and pulmonary systems – that may produce temporary or permanent impairment. The specialty focuses on medical, surgical & other means of restoration of function to people with problems ranging from simple physical mobility issues to those with complex cognitive involvement. As per recommendation of MCI every medical college should have a Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. Posting in the department during compulsory rotatory internship has also been imposed.

Scope: At present very few medical colleges in the country are having the department. Fewer colleges are imparting training in MD (PM&R) & DPMR but the no. is insufficient. Large nos. of medical colleges are coming up with new departments, which require faculty in PM&R and posts are lying vacant. With increasing awareness, better health services & improved status of living, the speciality is a lucrative area in private practice especially in pain management, spinal cord injury, post-CVA, cerebral palsy, geriatrics etc.

NIOH is an apex organization in the area of orthopedic rehabilitation, having well-equipped IPD, OPD, Operation theatres, Departments of Physiotherapy, Occupational Therapy, P & O, Rehab. Nursing, Socio-Economic Rehabilitation & Rehabilitation Engineering; labs like Uro-dynamic, Gait, Arthroscopy with excellent library facility.

Applications from eligible candidates are invited for DNB (Phy. Med. & Rehab.) training for Academic Session, Jan-2010 accredited by National Board of Examinations, Ministry of Health, New Delhi.
